Marsa Alam

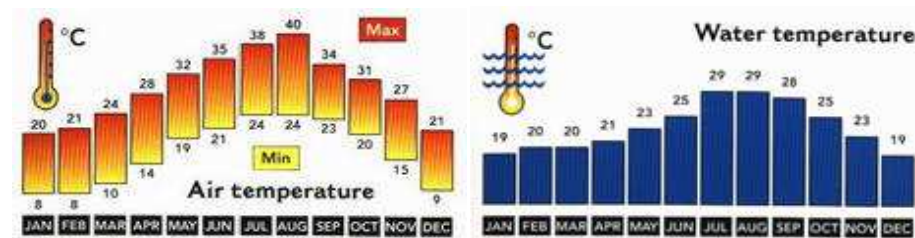

First Circular

You are cordially invited to participate at the Egyptian Fourth Conference in Chemistry “EICC-2018” under the title “Innovation in Chemistry and Future Life” to exchange and share your experiences and research results with scientists and researchers about all aspects of Chemical Sciences and discuss the practical challenges encountered and the solutions adopted.

Venue

The conference will be held in Marsa Alam city, including breakfast and dinner, within the period 5-8 November 2018. Marsa Alam is a port and a resort located on the red sea in the Eastern South of Egypt, 700 kilometers away from Cairo and 280 kilometers away from Hurghada. Marsa Alam also has an International Airport located 60 kilometers to the North of the city. The city transformed from being just a small fishing village to become a famous sea resort and a center for diving and sea trips as the city contains matchless coral reefs and diving spots. Guide to hotels, flights, diving, excursions and more will be found at this site : <http://www.marsaalam.com/>

July-August are the hottest months in Marsa Alam with an average temperature of 38-40°C and the coldest is January at 20°C with the most daily sunshine hours at 13 in August. The wettest month is November with an average of 3 mm of rain.

Scope

The conference will include all areas of chemical sciences:

- Environmental and Green Chemistry
- Industrial and Engineering Chemistry
- Materials Science and Chemistry
- Nanoscience and Technology
- Organic and Inorganic Chemistry
- Petrochemicals
- Pharmaceutical Chemistry and Biotechnology
- Physical and Theoretical Chemistry

Conference Program

The program of the conference will include plenary lectures, oral, poster and workshop sessions. Official language of the Conference is English.

Workshops

Researchers are cordially invited also to submit a proposal to organize a workshop and to be affiliated with the conference scope and topics so that the participants can benefit from interaction with each other and the cohesiveness of the topics.
